Black Republican Freedom Fund

The Black Republican Freedom Fund was started by Dr. Francis Rice with the mission of returning black Americans to their Republican roots. She's working to accomplish this mission by helping African American candidates get elected to key leadership positions in highly competitive races throughout the country. These candidates share in the same core values that she herself believes in, such as strong family, faith in God, personal responsibility, and quality education. This group has become a major political player in the 2006 election cycle by aiding local, state, and U.S. African American candidates with their respective races.

This is a nationwide list of conservative donors.
