

Center for Medical Progress

The Center for Medical Progress was founded in 2013 by investigative journalist David Daleiden to be a dedicated pro-life organization consisting of a team of pro-life investigative journalists. CMP's mission is to monitor and report on medical ethics and advances, exposing the dark truths behind the abortion industry in America. The Center for Medical Progress is a registered 501(c)(3) organization, set on educating citizens about bioethical issues that impact human dignity. Daleiden and his team stand for those who have no voice, opposing any interventions, procedures and experiments that directly exploit the sanctity of human life. CMP is appealing to any donor who opposes abortion and medical ethics/malpractice.
